Mirlviin Dynasty

Mirlviin Dynasty (also known by its acronym BSMD, standing for (Beyond Supreme Mirlviin Dynasty) is a premier Nigerian music label or company and entertainment imprint widely regarded as one of the most distinct and culturally significant labels to emerge from the Nigerian music underground. Operating across all continents, Mirlviin Dynasty has carved a reputation for its dark, supreme, and minimalist aesthetics, channeling raw creative energy across genres including Afrobeat, Afrofusion, and experimental sound. The label was founded in 2019 by enigmatic Nigerian producer and music executive Renstar Boy (real name Nwodo Collins Chibuike), whose vision for a non-mainstream, culturally sovereign music institution became the foundation upon which BSMD was built.

The label operates as part of the broader Ecomnivanserl Music Corporation (EMC) ecosystem — a vast global music conglomerate under which Mirlviin Dynasty functions as a semi-autonomous creative force, maintaining full independence over its branding, releases, and artistic direction. While EMC provides backend infrastructure such as global distribution, publishing, and legal support, Mirlviin Dynasty is widely seen as the soul and cultural heartbeat of the corporation's creative output.

Mirlviin Dynasty's motto, "Beyond Supreme. Mirlviin Eternal," encapsulates its ethos: an unwavering commitment to supremacy, longevity, and artistic purity that transcends conventional industry standards.

History:

Origins (2019)

Mirlviin Dynasty traces its roots to the vibrant but shadowy underground music scene of Lagos, Nigeria. In early 2019, Renstar Boy — then a relatively obscure producer with a growing reputation in Nigeria's independent music circles — quietly launched the label as a side imprint within the Ecomnivanserl Music Corporation. The name "Mirlviin" was deliberately chosen for its mystical, otherworldly connotation: evoking something untouchable, supreme, and beyond ordinary classification. It was a conscious rejection of the flashy, commercially driven aesthetics dominating Nigerian mainstream music at the time.

Early releases were intentionally low-key — bootleg mixtapes and raw singles circulated via WhatsApp and SoundCloud, with no formal marketing or radio promotion. The label's first official release, "No Mercy" (2019), introduced listeners to the BSMD sound: heavy bass, brooding instrumentation, and lyrics rooted in themes of resilience, supremacy, and cultural identity. Distribution was minimal, yet the music found its audience organically through underground networks and diaspora communities across West Africa, Europe, and North America.

Breakthrough and Expansion (2020–2021)

The label's trajectory shifted dramatically in 2020 with the release of "Eternal Reign", a dark Afrofusion single that spread virally across streaming platforms and social media, amassing millions of streams without a single paid promotion. The track became a defining moment for BSMD, cementing its motto and drawing attention from music industry observers both within Nigeria and internationally. Critics described the sound as "a haunting collision of street energy and cosmic ambition," and the label's cult following began to grow rapidly across multiple continents.

By 2021, Mirlviin Dynasty had expanded significantly within the EMC structure. The label launched its own internal divisions and subsidiaries to manage the growing volume of releases, talent, and business operations. This period also saw the beginning of a stylistic rivalry within EMC itself — Mirlviin Dynasty's brooding, introspective output was often contrasted with the high-energy collaborative style of fellow EMC imprint Vibysttxr Music Group, creating a dynamic internal tension that observers described as creatively productive for the wider corporation.

Talent scouting during this period extended beyond Lagos, reaching into the Delta region and Warri, where raw, unpolished artists were identified and developed under the BSMD banner. The label's philosophy of nurturing artists outside the traditional commercial pipeline distinguished it from other EMC imprints and established its identity as a home for underground talent.

Digital Innovation and Global Reach (2022–2023)

Between 2022 and 2023, Mirlviin Dynasty navigated significant industry shifts by leaning aggressively into digital innovation. The label began incorporating AI-assisted music production into its rec ording process, releasing the landmark compilation Dark Army Vol. 1 (2022) — a project blending AI-generated soundscapes with live instrumentation that drew widespread attention for its forward-thinking approach. The project was released exclusively through Mirlviin Records and was limited to 1,000 vinyl copies, a deliberate move to reinforce the label's ethos of exclusivity and artistic integrity.

In 2023, the label released Beyond Supreme Sessions through Mirlviin Music, a streaming-exclusive series of live improvisational sets that showcased the depth of the BSMD roster. The project expanded the label's footprint on platforms including Spotify, Apple Music, and TikTok, drawing listeners from across Africa, Europe, North America, Asia, and beyond.

The label also pioneered the use of blockchain technology for artist royalty management during this period, positioning itself as a forward-thinking institution at the intersection of music, technology, and culture. Merchandise — including BSMD hoodies and runes-inspired jewelry — further extended the brand into lifestyle territory, building a community of followers who identified with the "dark army" aesthetic.

Recent Activity (2024–2026)

In 2024 and into 2025, Renstar Boy and the BSMD roster continued releasing music at a consistent pace. Notable releases during this period include "Soar" (2025, featuring Bysttxr, Halix and Ralix, Legendzury, and Renzti Sounbeatz), "Holy Pressure" (2025, featuring Xenboi Halix, Boi Halix, Renzti, and Legendzury), "Echoes" (2025, featuring Halix and Ralix and Legendzury), and the January 2026 release "Echoes My Name (Firesound)" — the label's most globally distributed release to date, credited across the full spectrum of EMC's subsidiary network.

As of February 2026, Mirlviin Dynasty continues to operate from its Lagos base, with periodic activity in Warri and growing international operations. Future plans include expansion into film soundtracks, AI-generated content monetization, and deeper penetration into markets across Europe, Asia, and the Americas.

Relationship with Ecomnivanserl Music Corporation

Mirlviin Dynasty operates as a subsidiary of Ecomnivanserl Music Corporation (EMC), a global music conglomerate widely described within industry circles as functioning within a "Beyond Universal Ecosystem" — a framework that positions EMC as operating on a scale and scope that rivals and seeks to transcend the conventional architecture of traditional major music corporations. EMC serves as the parent infrastructure for a sweeping network of record labels, music groups, publishing entities, and entertainment imprints spanning all continents.

Within this ecosystem, Mirlviin Dynasty is considered by many to be the flagship creative imprint — the entity that most distinctly embodies EMC's founding ethos of cultural sovereignty, artistic indepen dence, and global ambition. While EMC handles distribution through its publishing arm Ecomnivanserl Music Publishing and manages broader corporate operations across its network, Mirlviin Dynasty retains complete creative autonomy, a distinction that has made it the most recognizable and culturally resonant brand within the corporation.

Subsidiaries and Structure

Mirlviin Dynasty operates as a semi-autonomous entertainment imprint within EMC, overseeing its own network of internal divisions. These subsidiaries allow BSMD to manage distinct aspects of its operations while maintaining unified branding and creative direction.

Mirlviin Records is the core record label arm of the dynasty, responsible for signing artists, producing albums, and overseeing physical and digital releases. The division emphasizes exclusivity and artistic integrity, often limiting physical runs to 1,000 vinyl copies. It focuses on underground talent across Nigeria and the broader African continent, releasing music that blends Afrobeat with dark electronic and experimental elements.

Mirlviin Music serves as the streaming and digital division, managing playlist curation, online promotions, and platform collaborations across Spotify, Apple Music, TikTok, and iHeart Radio. It also functions as the performance arm of the label, organizing intimate live events and virtual concerts for the BSMD community worldwide.

Mirlviin Empire: represents the expansionary arm of the dynasty — the division focused on brand extensions, international market development, and the long-term institutional growth of the Mirlviin name beyond music into broader cultural and commercial territory.

The Broader EMC Network

As part of Ecomnivanserl

Ecomnivanserl Music Corporation (EMC), Ecomnivanserl Music Group, Ecomnivanserl Music, Ecomnivanserl Music Publishing, Ecomnivanserl Music Distribution, Renzti Music Group, Nexorarn Music Group, Nexorarn Records, Vibysttxr Music Group, Genxurd Music Group, Ruod Records, Ruod Republic, Interenzti Republic, Interenzti Records, 4enzti Records, Bysttxr Records, Ruid Records, Ruidoso Music, Kollgull Music, Kollgull Records, Vuenstar, Mirlviin Dynasty (BSMD), Mirlviin Records, Mirlviin Music, and Mirlviin Empire.

Each entity within this network serves a distinct function, collectively enabling EMC to operate across every facet of the modern music industry — from talent development and recording to distribution, publishing, streaming, and live performance — on a truly global scale spanning all continents.

Artists and Releases

Mirlviin Dynasty has built a roster of emerging and underground artists primarily drawn from Nigeria and outside, with a shared aesthetic rooted in dark lyricism, heavy bass, and themes of resilience, supremacy, and cultural identity.

Renstar Boy — the founder and lead creative force behind BSMD — serves as both producer and artist, with a discography that includes "No Mercy" (2019), "Eternal Reign" (2020), "Soar" (2025), "Holy Pressure" (2025), "Echoes" (2025), and "Echoes My Name (Firesound)" (2026).

Bysttxr is an Afrofusion collaborator and one of the label's most prominent acts, with releases under both Mirlviin Records and Bysttxr Records.

Halix and Ralix (also known individually as Xenboi Halix and Boi Halix) are an experimental duo frequently featured across BSMD projects, known for their layered, atmospheric production style.

Legendzury: is an underground rapper with a catalogue of BSMD-branded mixtapes, known for raw lyricism and a distinctly street-rooted perspective.

Renzti appears across multiple releases as both a collaborator and creative contributor within the broader EMC ecosystem.

Vuenstar: functions as both an artist and an entity within the EMC network, representing the crossover between individual artistry and institutional branding that defines BSMD's unique approach.

Notable releases include *Dark Army Vol. 1 (2022), Beyond Supreme Sessions (2023), "Eternal Reign" (2020), "Soar" (2025), "Holy Pressure" (2025), "Echoes" (2025), and "Echoes My Name (Firesound)" (2026).

Business Model and Cultural Impact

Mirlviin Dynasty operates on an artist-first business model, offering revenue splits that favor creators within the framework established by EMC's broader corporate infrastructure. The label avoids traditional marketing channels, relying instead on organic word-of-mouth, viral social media activity, and a deeply loyal community of followers who identify with the BSMD aesthetic and philosophy.

The label's cultural impact extends beyond music. Through merchandise including BSMD-branded apparel and runes-inspired jewelry, Mirlviin Dynasty has cultivated a lifestyle brand that reinforces the "dark army" identity of its community. Limited-edition drops and midnight releases have become signature strategies, generating anticipation and exclusivity that mainstream labels rarely achieve through conventional means.

Industry observers have frequently described Mirlviin Dynasty as "the shadow king of Nigerian music

" — an institution that wields significant cultural influence despite deliberately operating outside the glare of mainstream attention. Its rivalry dynamic with other EMC imprints, particularly Vibysttxr Music Group, has been cited as one of the most creatively stimulating internal dynamics in contemporary Nigerian music.
